

SUPREME COURT OF ARKANSAS

IN MEMORY OF
JUSTICE STEELE HAYS

Opinion Delivered July 27, 2011

PER CURIAM

On June 22, 2011, Honorable Steele Hays, who served with distinction on the Arkansas Supreme Court from 1981 to 1994, died at the age of eighty-six. He was first appointed to the trial bench by Governor Winthrop Rockefeller to serve an interim term on the Sixth Circuit in Little Rock. In 1980, Governor Bill Clinton appointed him as one of the original members of the Arkansas Court of Appeals, and he served on that court for two years until his election to the supreme court.

Prior to joining the bench, Justice Hays had a distinguished career as a lawyer in Little Rock. He graduated from George Washington University Law School and practiced with the firm, Spitzberg, Mitchell & Hays, from 1954 to 1979, save for his service on the trial bench.

Justice Hays was active in his community. A sampling of his activities include: Chancellor for the Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas, President of the Arkansas Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and Chair of the Arkansas Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Justice Hays had a keen sense of justice. He was a scholar on the life of Abraham Lincoln, and this quote of Lincoln, aptly fits Justice Hays, “I have always found that mercy bears richer fruits than strict justice.”

The Arkansas Supreme Court joins the citizens of this state in saluting Justice Hays for a life well-lived—a life of service, a life in pursuit of justice. The court extends its deepest condolences to Justice Hays’ wife, Peggy, and the rest of his family.

Chief Justice Jim Hannah

Associate Justice Donald Corbin

Associate Justice Robert Brown

Associate Justice Jim Gunter

Associate Justice Paul Danielson

Associate Justice Karen Baker

Associate Justice Courtney Henry

SUPREME COURT OF ARKANSAS

Opinion Delivered July 27, 2011

IN MEMORY OF
JUSTICE STEELE HAYS

PER CURIAM

On June 22, 2011, Honorable Steele Hays, who served with distinction on the Arkansas Supreme Court from 1981 to 1994, died at the age of eighty-six. He was first appointed to the trial bench by Governor Winthrop Rockefeller to serve an interim term on the Sixth Circuit in Little Rock. In 1980, Governor Bill Clinton appointed him as one of the original members of the Arkansas Court of Appeals, and he served on that court for two years until his election to the supreme court:

Prior to joining the bench, Justice Hays had a distinguished career as a lawyer in Little Rock. He graduated from George Washington University Law School and practiced with the firm, Spitzberg, Mitchell & Hays, from 1954 to 1979, save for his service on the trial bench.

Justice Hays was active in his community. A sampling of his activities include: Chancellor for the Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas, President of the Arkansas Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and Chair of the Arkansas Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Justice Hays had a keen sense of justice. He was a scholar on the life of Abraham Lincoln, and this quote of Lincoln, aptly fits Justice Hays, "I have always found that mercy bears richer fruits than strict justice."

The Arkansas Supreme Court joins the citizens of this state in saluting Justice Hays for a life well-lived — a life of service, a life in pursuit of justice. The court extends its deepest condolences to Justice Hays' wife, Peggy, and the rest of his family.

Chief Justice Jim Hannah

Associate Justice Donald Corbin

Associate Justice Robert Brown

Associate Justice Jim Gunter

Associate Justice Paul Danielson

Associate Justice Karen Baker

Associate Justice Courtney Henry